

PRIMA CLASSIC PRESENTS

Anda Eglite presents her fourth album,
a collection of lullabies from the Baltics

First Single Release on March 3rd, 2023

Dreaming Under the Moonlight is a selection of lullabies from northern Europe, particularly Latvia and the Baltics—a region with an incredibly vast tradition of songs, usually having as a theme the forest, fairies, small animals, ancient trees, and the moonlight. Uniquely Latvian is also the Kokle, the clear and soft-sounding 33-string table instrument, plucked by one of its great masters of today, Anda Eglite.

The Healing Power of Music

Backed by multiple scientific studies from around the world, we believe in the healing power of human interactions through music, especially in these times of stress and isolation.

Top-tier musicians

We carefully choose our artists from the academic, classical, and popular music scenes. These are well-established musicians with a solid background in their instruments and years of experience as performers, educators, composers, and musicologists. Some of them are world-famous stars.

From centuries-old pieces to original compositions, our artists deliver their unique approach to music, be that in the style of relaxation and calming music, or in the performance of heart-wrenching dramatic pieces of the bel canto operatic repertoire.

Real instruments - Real sounds

No synthesizers, no samples, no loops, no AI-produced music, no instruments from libraries.

We believe in the unique energy of the sounds that come from real instruments produced with the hands of human beings. Our choice of instruments is varied, ranging from grand pianos to different acoustic guitars (some of them unique in the world), from harps to Kokle (ancient Latvian table harp), and from Bendir (ancient hand frame drum) to Handpan (tonal drum invented in the 2000s), and others, both traditional and less known acoustic instruments.

Hi-res from inception

All of our albums are recorded at 96k/32-bit floating (reduced to 24 bits at Mastering) using the highest quality audio equipment to date. All our recordings are available in Hi-Resolution (Studio Quality 96/24), Apple Digital Masters, and all our new releases are also available on Dolby ATMOS.
