Lora Chow

Lora Chow is a Hong Kong-born composer, pianist, coloratura soprano, and multi-instrumentalist known for her dynamic contributions to the world of music. A magna cum laude graduate from Yale, Chow's work spans piano improvisations, orchestral, chamber, vocal, and piano compositions. Drawing influence from classical giants like Chopin and Rachmaninoff, as well as film composers such as John Williams and Joe Hisaishi, she has premiered works with prestigious ensembles, including the Hong Kong Philharmonic Orchestra and international orchestras in Italy, the U.S., and Hungary. Her compositions, published by Universal Edition, are celebrated for their healing qualities and emotional depth.

Chow has received numerous awards, including the Chigiana Film Scoring Award for Best Storytelling, the Cole Porter Fellowship, and the Louis Sudler Creative and Performing Arts Award. Beyond her artistic achievements, she is a passionate advocate for community engagement and regularly collaborates with charitable organizations. Chow is also the Co-Founder of the Yale Alumni Chamber Music Society of Hong Kong and serves as Soprano Fellow at the Hong Kong Philharmonic Orchestra.
